ENGINEERING AND SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY SYMPOSIUM

The Faculty of Engineering, the Engineering Students' Society, and the University of Alberta Chaplains' Association present a three-day symposium entitled "The Engineer: world-maker? world-shaker? world-breaker?" on November 2, 3, and 4 from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. each night.

The purpose of the symposium is to bring together people from the engineering community and the community at large to discuss such things as the engineer's professional role and his social responsibility, the positive contributions to human life made by engineering as well as the impact which it has on human life, and the integration of humanities and social sciences to equip the engineer to deal with non-engineering aspects of engineering problems.

A number of guest speakers will deliver talks which will be followed by group discussion. Henry Knepler, engineering educator, will speak on "Engineering education and social responsibility: the state of the art." Brian Bourke, an engineer with SNC Tottrup Services Ltd., will deliver a lecture entitled "Dimensions of social responsibility in large-scale resource development: a case presentation." Lewis Perinbaum, vice-president, special projects, Canadian International Development Agency, will speak on "Our Neighborhood: global interconnections." Howard Mills, theologian and social ethicist, will give a talk on "Perspectives of a social ethicist." On the third night of the symposium there will be a panel discussion on "Social responsibility in the engineering enterprise." All sessions will be held in 2-1 Mechanical Engineering Building. The symposium is free and open to the public. For more information, please call 432-4621, 432-4620, 435-5942, 432-3320.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CONFERENCE

The Students' Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation (SAPHER) will host a Western Canadian Physical Education Conference to be held at the University, October 30, 31 and November 1. This conference is held annually at different campuses across western Canada, and is open to students, staff, and the general public.

Richard Kerr

The intent of such a conference is to bring together physical education students so that they may have the opportunity to discuss issues and questions of common interest and importance that will have implications not only for them as professional physical educators but for the general public as well. At this year's conference, SAPHER has chosen to discuss issues related to Sports Festivals. This topic is especially relevant insofar as Canada will be hosting both the 1976 Olympics and the 1978 Commonwealth Games.

Guest speakers at the conference will include M.L. Van Vliet, Dean of the Faculty of Physical Education and Chairman of the 1978 Commonwealth Games; R.G. Glassford, Chairman of the Department of Physical Education; Tom Bedicki, Director of Sport Canada; Gus McFarlane, Liberal MP from Hamilton who has been involved actively in sports for the past thirty years; M. McMurtry, former Calgary Stampeders and Professor of Philosophy at the University of Guelph; and R. Kriegel, former sports director at the Esalen Institute in California, who is presently engaged in working on alternatives to traditional physical education programs. The speakers display a wide range of views and opinions on sports and physical education, and should provide a lively and interesting discussion.

A number of social functions have also been planned for the conference. There is a wine and cheese social on Thursday, October 30 at the Macdonald Hotel from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.; a dinner and social at the Polish Hall on Friday, October 31 from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m.; and a banquet at the Chateau Lacombe on Saturday, November 1 at 6 p.m.

More information about the conference may be obtained by contacting Joe Daniel or Vicki Demkiw at the Faculty of Education, or by phoning 433-7223 or 434-0673.

NON-CREDIT COURSES

SOCIAL POLICY FOR THE 1980's

Social workers, members of the helping professions, and concerned citizens will have an opportunity to consider what social policies they would like to see implemented in the 1980's in the Department of Extension seminars entitled, Social Policy for the 1980s. The three half-day seminars—November 5, 12, and 19—will be conducted by Peter Boothroyd. Mr. Boothroyd is the Chief Executive Officer, Edmonton Social Planning Council, and Co-ordinating Director, Task Force on Urbanization and the Future which is sponsored by the Alberta Government and ten Alberta cities.

The purpose of these seminars is to provide tools and an environment whereby creative and analytic thought can be given to the social policy of the 1980s. They are presented in co-operation with the Edmonton BSW programs, Faculty of Social Welfare, The University of Calgary. Registrations are accepted in Room 228, Corbett Hall, 82 Avenue and 112 Street. The fee is $15. Seminar hours will be from 2 to 5 p.m. These seminars are limited to 36 participants. Additional information may be obtained by calling 432-5069.

WILLS AND ESTATE PLANNING

Will preparation, estate administration, and estate planning are the three topics covered in a short course, "Wills and estate planning," being offered by the Department of Extension beginning November 5. This course has been designed to inform individuals and families about the laws and taxes which affect wills and estate planning. Consideration will be given to executors, guardians, unusual family needs as they apply to will preparation; probate, family relief act, and intestate succession act; and aspects of estate planning such as capital gains taxes, income taxes, corporation, trusts, and gifts and tax havens.

Instructors will be Peter Lown, Barrister and Solicitor and Associate Professor of Law; Walter K. Mis, Barrister and Solicitor and Professor of Law; and L.N. Klar, Barrister and Solicitor (Quebec) and Assistant Professor of Law, all of The University of Alberta.

The seminar will be held three Wednesday evenings beginning November 5 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Registrations are accepted in Room 228, Corbett Hall, 82 Avenue and 112 Street. The fee is $20 including course materials. Additional information may be obtained by calling 432-5066 or 432-5067.

NOISE CONTROL IN BUILDINGS

Engineers, architects, construction contractors, suppliers, technical persons, and others will have an opportunity to learn more about controlling noise at a three-day seminar, "Noise control in buildings," to be held October 29 through 31 by the Department of Extension. Among the topics to be discussed are basic acoustics, acoustical materials, noise sources, vibration control, acoustic design of rooms, noise control by design, and laboratory demonstrations on reverberant sound fields, rating of walls and floors for transmission loss, absorption and transmission tests, and design calculations.

The instructors will be Eugene Bolstad, Bolstad Engineering Associates Ltd., Edmonton; William J. Cavanaugh, Cavanaugh-Copley Associates, Boston, Massachusetts; Gary Faulkner, Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering, and James S. Kennedy, Professor and Chairman of Mechanical Engineering, both of The University of Alberta.

Registrations for the seminar are accepted in Room 228, Corbett Hall, 82 Avenue and 112 Street. The fee is $150 including lunches and materials. The seminar is limited to 35 participants. Additional information is available by calling 432-3037 or 432-5038.
